WORKTOPS

12mm & 20mm THICK PORCELAIN

NOW AVAILABLE IN THROUGH VEIN TECHNOLOGY

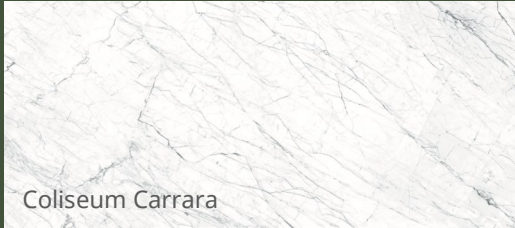

This means the vein is visible on the slab surface as well as the body and edges of the tile, making this range the closest yet to real marble.

What is 12mm & 20mm thick porcelain used for?

Kitchen worktops (inside & out), vanity tops, bath surrounds, table tops, fireplaces & so much more!

Why choose porcelain as your worktop material?

Compared to other materials, such as Quartz, Granite, Conglomerate, Corian etc, porcelain is more resistant to SCRATCHES, ABRASIONS, CHEMICALS, ACIDS & ALKALIS, MOULD & FUNGI. It is EASY TO CLEAN, HYGIENIC & FOOD SAFE. It can withstand HIGH TEMPERATURES; you can place trays straight from the oven on to your work surface. Furthermore, it is RESISTANT TO UV RAYS making it SUITABLE FOR INDOOR & OUTDOOR USE.

Many of our porcelain slabs are also available in 3mm & 6mm thick for cladding kitchen units & other furniture, and for use on walls & floors.
